

Dialogue Between Myself and My Friend Who Has Enjoyed A Picnic Recently

Question: Write a dialogue between you and your friend Jamal who has enjoyed a picnic recently.

Answer:

Myself: Hello, Jamal, how did you enjoy the picnic at Sonargaon last week?

Jamal: It is an exciting experience for me.

Myself: I have read about Sonargaon which was once the capital of Bengal during the reign of Issa Khan?

Jamal: It is really wonderful.

Myself: What are the things worth seeing?

Jamal: The “Loko Shilpa” museum and “Karu Palli” are really amazing.

Myself: What else?

Jamal: Yes, a symbolic sculpture by Zainul Abedin at the entrance of the ancient Palace of Issa Khan is really fantastic. It shows the warrior Issa Khan mounting on a horse. On the opposite side of the museum, the arrangements for cooking were also very good. The lunch we took was very delicious. A professional cook was hired by our Headmaster. Our physical teacher, two of our bearers helped the cook to prepare food.

Myself: You also enjoyed sightseeing!

Jamal: Of course, we enjoyed it so much. We moved around the spot and had taken a lot of photographs.

Myself: It is really memorable.

Jamal: Thank you so much.

Myself: Thanks, let us go together to the class.

Dialogue Between You and Your Friend Who Has Enjoyed A Picnic Recently

Question: Write a dialogue between you and your friend Hassan who has enjoyed a picnic recently.

Answer:

Kamal: Hello, Hassan! How did you enjoy a picnic?

Hassan: It was really exciting. It was more enjoyable to me because I had never been to Garo Pahar.

Kamal: I had also never been to Garo Pahar before. Our journey was very enjoyable. The scenic beauty of the place is wonderful. The lunch was also a great attraction to all of us. We were very hungry. So, we took our lunch and our heart's content. The song, dance, comedy, and games also added to our pleasure.

Hassan: You have taken a lot of snaps, haven't you?

Kamal: Yes. Here are the photographs.

Hassan: The picnic was so enjoyable that I 'will recall it for a long time.

Kamal: same to me. Thank you very much. Bye.

Hassan: Bye.
