

Dialogue Between Two Friends About the Bad Effects of Smoking

Question: Smoking is really a bad habit. Now, write a dialogue between Anis and Naku about the bad effects of smoking.

Answer: A dialogue between Anis and Naku about the bad effects of smoking:

Anis: Hello, Naku. How are you?

Naku: I am not well. I have been suffering from illness.

Anis: I heard you have become a chain smoker. Smoking may be one of the major reasons for your illness.

Naku: Doctor has also said so.

Anis: Why don't you give up smoking? Don't you know the dangers of smoking?

Naku: I tried to give it up, but I could not.

Anis: If you had thought seriously about its bad effects, you would not have smoked anymore.

Naku: How is it harmful?

Anis: Smoking causes many fatal diseases. It causes cancer, heart attack, chronic bronchitis, etc. Besides, it's also very expensive.

Naku: Is there anything good about smoking?

Anis: Of course not. Nobody can put any argument in favor of smoking.

Naku: Well, within a short time I'll give up smoking.

Anis: Thank you. The sooner you give it up the better it will be for you.

Naku: You are most welcome.
