

Short Essay on My Aim in Life

Human life is like a journey to reach a destination. In the journey of our life, we should have an aim or future plan. A man can not succeed without any fixed aim. A man without aim is like a boat without a rudder. So, every man should choose a particular profession at the beginning of his life.

Different men have different aims in life. Some want to be high officials or scholars or poets etc. Someone wants to be a doctor or an engineer or a teacher. This choice of profession depends on one's taste aptitude and intensity of desire.

I am now a student of class VII. I have also an aim in my life. The aim of my life is to become a doctor.

Bangladesh is a poor country. Most of her people live under the poverty line. They can not get two square meals a day, let alone Medicare. As a result, they suffer from various diseases. Besides, there is no qualified doctor to serve them. If I can qualify myself for the Medical profession, I shall not accept any government post, but I shall go to my native village and serve the villagers. I shall treat them in every respect. I shall not take any fee from them and provide them with medicine free of cost. I shall also set up a charitable dispensary in my village. So, I have decided to become a doctor to serve the people of my village through this profession.

After passing the . Examination, I shall get myself admitted into a college in the science group. After obtaining, if Allah pleases, the . degree from there, I shall join the Dhaka Medical College for the . degree.

An aimless man is harmful to both himself and society. Failure and unsuccessful and well-ordered life.

We reached Daudkandi at 6 pm. One of my relatives came to the Ghat to receive us. We went to his house and enjoyed rich food.

It was the most pleasant journey in my life. I enjoyed it so much that the memory of the journey will remain ever fresh in my heart. I shall never forget it.
