- When and where it is usually held?
- What purposes does it serve?
- How is it organized?
- What steps can be taken to make such a fair successful?

Answer: a book fair is a fair where different types of books are brought for sale and show. A book fair is usually held in the month of January and February. In our country, it is held in almost all cities and towns. The largest book fair is organized by bangle academy on the occasion the 21 February. The main purpose of a book fair is not a sale but it offers a rare opportunity to assess the advancement made in the publication of books. It helps to create new writers also as well as new readers. It inspires people to form the habit of reading books. A book fair reminds us that books are our best companions. They change our outlook on life and widen our domain of knowledge. Again we get these best friends at a cheaper rate from a book fair. In order to organize the fair, a committee is formed. The committee makes all the arrangements to make the fair successful. It should be made sure that all the stalls might sell books. There should have an arrangement for refreshments. Seminars and cultural programs should be arranged. Moreover, strict security measures should be taken. The government should encourage the writers and the publishers to publish creative books. Books should be sold at a cheap price.

What is a book fair?

When and where is it held? How is it popular?

Have you ever visited a book fair? When?

What kinds of books are available at a book fair?

What is your personal impression of a book fair?

Answer: A book fair is a fair where a number of books are exhibited and sold. In Bangladesh, book fairs are held usually in the month of February. Although book fairs are held in many places/towns of Bangladesh now, the most attractive and largest book fair is organized in Dhaka on the Bangla Academy premises. This book fair popularly known as Ekushey Boi Mela opens on the first of February and continues till the end of February. It is exceptionally popular. Almost all the well-known publishers in the country try to take part in this fair. They exhibit and advertise their published books and try to attract readers to buy books. Almost all kinds of books are displayed in a book fair. But novels, poems, short stories, science fiction, and children's classic are sold more than other types of books. I have a very positive feeling about this fair. I think that a book fair plays a vital role to introduce us to the world of books. It spreads knowledge by encouraging and inspiring us to read books more and more.
