What does the word 'stranger' refer to?

Where did you meet the stranger?

How did the stranger look like?

How did you feel then?

What happened last?

Answer: The word stranger refers to an unknown person. Yesterday while I was walking in front of the new market area, I met a stranger. I was not acquainted with such a person before. She was about 40. She put on a tee shirt and a half pants. Generally, we do not wear these in our country. She had a camera in her arm and many pictures in her left hand. She looked very polite and friendly. Suddenly she called me through a gesture. Probably she was in crisis as some people of different ages were following her. At first, I became nervous as she started to talk to me in English. Guessing my problem, the stranger began to talk in distorted Bengali. However, I understood it. She requested me to help her in this situation. By this time, she was encircled by a lot of people. Then I told her that these people would not make any harm. They are very curious about foreigners. This is the general tendency of the people. Finally, we left that place.
