

Paragraph on A Visit to A Trade Fair

Question:

When does trade fair help?

Where did you visit?

Why did you become amazed?

What did you see at the trade fair?

What were the products at the fair?

How did you enjoy?

Answer: A trade fair is usually held once a year in a big town or city. I had the chance to visit one such fair in Dhaka. As I entered the fair, I was amazed! There was the clear presence of grandeur and beauty everywhere. The entire fair was flooded with bright, dazzling and colorful lights. As I walked a few steps, I noticed rows of stalls all around and pavilions in the center, first I visited the pavilions, which were all tastefully decorated. The exhibits were related to heavy engineering, automobiles, garments, food processing, electronics, etc. I showed a keen interest in each of them I was delighted to see the products of the local companies. I visualized Bangladesh as an emerging nation with promises of prosperity and progress. Then. I visited the stalls, selling cosmetics, bangles, cutlery, and crockery, etc. As I was walking past the food-courts, the smell of sizzling kebab' tickled my nostrils. I enjoyed some mouth-watering dishes. At last, it was time for me to come out of the fair, leaving behind the world of dream, colors, lights, and fantasies.