

Paragraph on Mount Everest

Mount Everest in Himalayas is the highest peak of the world. It is in Indo-Nepal area and north by our country. It is about 29000 feet above from the sea level. It is named after Mount Everest because in 1881 at first, he surveyed it. It is full of wonder, attractive and dangerous- area. It is an icy zone and always covered with white snow that causes a heavy shower of rain and water. It is a natural and divine beauty. In 1953 Tenzing and Hillary first conquered it. It plays an important role to maintain our ecological balance. It is the main source of many big rivers, canals, lakes, and fountains. But unfortunately, now it is melting as global warming gradually.
