

Paragraph on My Neighbors

Question: Answer the following questions to form a continuous paragraph. (100 words)

- What do you mean by neighbors?
- Why are neighbors essential?
- How are your neighbors?
- Who is your next-door neighbor?
- What are the main traits of him?
- What type of life does he lead?

Answer: Neighbors are those persons who live adjacent to us. Man is a social being: He cannot live alone in society. So he has to live with other neighbors in a particular place. I live in a city. I have many neighbors. All of them are very co-operative and helpful. They are also well-behaved. My next-door neighbor is Mr. Rahman. He leads a very simple life. He does not nourish high ambition because he knows that high ambition drives a man mad. He cannot enjoy a moment's peace. He cannot enjoy a sound sleep. He runs after earthly things which keep him always busy. So my neighbor has no high ambition. He is free from all cares and anxieties. He is content with what he has. He does not want more. He is not competitive at all. Therefore, he enjoys peace and happiness in life.

Or,

Paragraph on My Neighbours

Question: Write a paragraph about 'Your Neighbours.' Your paragraph should include the answers to the following questions.

- Who are neighbors?
- How are your neighbors?

Who is your next-door neighbor?

How does he conduct with you?

What is the main characteristic of your neighbors?

What is your bounden duty and why?

Answer: Man is a social being. So, he cannot live alone. In a particular place, he lives with others. These other people are called neighbors. My neighbors are many and we live in a city. They belong to different professions. All of my neighbors are well behaved. They are very simple, frank and sociable. My next-door neighbor is a young man named Abdur Rahman. He is very sweet in nature. He is a mild-tempered gentleman. He is a government employee and his wife is a housewife. They are very affectionate to me. All their deeds are praiseworthy. I hear kindness to the distressed people is untold. Oilier neighbors are also good. They also do constructive works in society, Humanity is the main characteristic of my neighbors. They add to my happiness and lessen my misery by their sympathy. In our sorrowful moment, they come to solve our problems. So, it is our bounden duty to keep good terms with our neighbors.