

Short Paragraph on A Street Beggar

Question: Write a paragraph on 'A Street Beggar' by answering the following question:

Who is a street beggar?

Where does he live?

Where does he beg?

How is his life?

Answer: A street beggar is one who sits or stands beside the street and asks for alms. He is a feeble man and he lives on charity. A street beggar usually wears dirty and torn clothes and has a bowl in his hand. He receives alms in this bowl. A street beggar generally lives on the pavement of a street, building, market, educational institution, or in a slum. If anyone gives alms to a beggar, he becomes happy and prays to God for him. A street beggar leads a miserable life and sometimes he is bound to fast because he can't earn his living.

Or,

A Street Beggar

Question:

Who is a street beggar?

What does he wear?

How does he approach the passers-by?

How much does he earn?

What is your opinion about begging as a profession?

Answer: A beggar who begs to stand by a street is called a street beggar. He is usually found in busy towns and cities. How often do wear torn, dirty, and patched clothes? A street beggar may be lame, blind, or dumb. He usually carries a vessel in his hands. He tries to draw the attention of the passers-by uttering painful words. He usually recites from the holy Qur'an and tries to stir the religious sentiments of the passer-by. Many passers-by feel pity and sympathy for him and give him coins. He receives the coins with a grateful heart and wishes a peaceful life for him. The income of a street beggar is not enough for him to keep his body and soul together. A street beggar is a social parasite. He gives nothing to society but brings a slur to the nation. The removal of the beggary from society is the crying need of the day.

Or,

A Street Beggar

Question: Write a paragraph about 'A Street Beggar' by answering the questions below.

Who is a street beggar?

Where is a street beggar found?

What does a street beggar do to have alms?

What does he do when he receives donations?

Answer: A person who begs alms in the streets is called a street beggar. He is generally found begging in a street or the corner of a street. A street beggar sometimes shouts at the top of his voice to attract the attention of the passers-by. A beggar usually puts on a torn and shabby dress. He may be able-bodied, lame, blind, or crippled physically. If a street beggar is blind, lame, or crippled, he can easily draw the sympathy of the people. Out of sympathy, people or passers-by give him a coin or a note. He prays for peace and happiness for the man who gives him a coin or a note. He usually does it out of gratitude. Sometimes he prays for alms in the name of Allah and the prophet or by reciting a few verses from the holy Quran. A street beggar moves from one street to another. When a street beggar shouts for alms, some people get annoyed and rebuke him but he does not protest. Rather he leaves the place very silently. A street beggar leads a very pitiable life. The life of a street beggar is shameful.