

Story on All Is Well That Ends Well

Jamal is an examinee. He is not attentive to his lessons especially to English because he is very weak in English. Moreover, he is lazy. So, his preparation in English is not good. A month ago, before his examination he managed to get a suggestion book on English. He started following the book. He began to read his English very hard. He read all day long. He took the suggestion from an English teacher. The teacher helped him. He read the whole month with a new spirit. At last, the day of his examination came. He entered the examination hall. He sat quietly. When the bell rang, Jamal took the question paper. He was highly pleased to see the questions. All of them were common to him. He answered the questions cool headedly. He did very well in the examination.
